

DANÉL MULLER- MISTY LANDSCAPE

How to paint a landscape study in fabric by using the monochrome palette of dress net, chiffon and other delicate fabric. Are you unsure of your creative abilities? You may merely be lacking the skill, tools and confidence to create a minimalistic art quilt. Learn how to construct a landscape by using a few practical steps.

Misty Landscape is a one-day class aimed at quilters that want to explore art quilt techniques in a practical way. The technique will be explained step by step from tone mapping an existing image to how to apply the final touches.

The goal of the class is to familiarise students with the use of dress net as a method of embellishment to incorporate in different art quilts. This class is taught to include machine and handwork. A compulsory kit will be available to give the students the opportunity to experiment with the different material and fabrics used for this technique. The finished size of the project is A3. The final product can be used as a cushion cover or wall hanging. This class is hands-on, fun and creative and every person will be energized to experiment with the technique. Every quilt in the class turns out different, as each student will be encouraged to experiment with the light and shadow and even the smallest difference in placement will change the shape. The class is aimed at students with at least an intermediate skills level. This class is the original concept and design of Danél-Marie Muller and will be presented by her. .
